

i2i Systems Remains Best in KLAS Population Health Management Category

Since 2013, Company Maintains Top Ranking Based on Committed Customer Base

i2i Systems, an early innovator and developer of population health management technology, has again been ranked one of the highest overall in the latest December 2015 KLAS Report: How Far Can Your Vendor Take You?

For 15 years, i2i has led the developing market for population health management (PHM). The latest KLAS Report, leveraging over 200 user interviews, shines a light on why healthcare organizations choose specific vendors and how well those vendors perform. With an 86.9 overall rating, i2i commands a strong top finish versus 24 PHM vendors. The company drew high marks for deep capabilities in regard to clinical and claims data integration and normalization, risk stratification, and improving the efficiency and effectiveness of care coordinators. In addition, i2i Systems is the vendor of choice for clinicians with the highest median number of risk-based contracts or programs in the country.

“It is an exciting time in our market. Even though the industry continues to evolve in terms of defining population health, i2i has stood true to its mission and values of delivering both operational and strategic PHM tools that demonstrate outcome improvement in the lives of patients”, says Justin Neece, chief operations officer, i2i Systems. Through experience gained from nearly 20 million lives actively managed with the i2i solutions platform, clinicians and administrators enjoy i2i’s easy-to-use and configurable population health toolset and the ability to create quantifiable impact. “Clients struggle with issues ranging from depth of functionality to lack of data access. At i2i, we take the time to find out exactly what kind of population health solutions the client needs, deliver those solutions and then provide the best technical support, training and consultative services required for success,” says Neece.
